I'm a Web Developer

Everything started with passion to web and love to work. From an early age, I created few websites for friends and for schools that I attended. Later I joined my older brother, who has been programming in PHP forever.

In 2014 I got my first commercial work as a Junior Front-end Developer in SPERO company. Creating plugins for Wordpress and PrestaShop, server care, being a project manager and contacting clients - it was my everyday life.

Three years of experience later, I understood that I need to grow with technology. I found a Netkata Internet Software House in the center of Warsaw, where I can participate in large projects in React and Vue. Here you can find me to this day.

Rest of my experience is successful cooperation as a freelancer with companies from Europe (Poland, UK) and Asia (Israel, Japan).
